AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

STATEMENT OF COMMON PURPOSE

The central commitment of American University is to the development of thoughtful, responsible human beings in the context of a challenging yet supportive academic community.

PREAMBLE

To achieve its ends, an academic community requires the knowledge, integrity, and civility of its members. In turn, the community helps individuals develop habits and values that will enable them to achieve personal satisfaction and to contribute to a better world. This Student Conduct Code is designed to support a safe, honest, and inclusive community with a shared commitment to acting with mutual respect and forming the highest standards of ethics and morals among its members. It fosters the university's commitment to excellence, equity, and inclusion and affirms the shared values that make community life possible. Students with alleged violations of the Student Conduct Code should contact Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services to receive further information on conduct procedures.

I. AUTHORITY FOR STUDENT DISCIPLINE

Ultimate authority for all university policy is vested in the Board of Trustees of American University. Non-academic disciplinary authority has been delegated by the president to the Vice President of Campus Life to implement student conduct policies and take all necessary and appropriate action to protect the safety and well-being of the campus community.

The Board of Trustees reserves the right to review and to take any action it deems necessary in any conduct case. In practice, the resolution of non-academic conduct cases may involve an array of university administrators and committees of students, staff, and faculty. Students are asked to assume positions of responsibility in the university conduct system in order to contribute their skills and insights to the resolution of conduct cases. The university reserves the right to amend this Student Conduct Code at any time according to established procedures.

II. RESPONSIBILITIES AND RIGHTS

Every student has a duty to understand and abide by the rules and regulations of the university. Student rights related to the Administrative Adjudication process are outlined in Section XVIII of the Student Conduct Code. Ignorance of a rule or regulation will not be an acceptable reason to find a student not responsible. Students accused of conduct violations that are resolved through disciplinary conference, disciplinary hearings, or disciplinary hearing-level conferences are entitled to the following procedural protections:

1. to be informed of the allegations against them;
2. to request an informal resolution of the case;
3. to be allowed reasonable time to prepare a response;
4. to hear and respond to evidence upon which an allegation is based;
5. to present relevant witnesses and ask questions of the witnesses at disciplinary hearings;
6. to be assured of confidentiality according to the terms of the university policy on Confidentiality of Student Records;
7. to request that any person conducting a disciplinary proceeding or serving as a Conduct Council member or hearing administrator, or conference officer, be disqualified on the grounds of conflict of interest;
8. to be provided with an opportunity to review these rights before any disciplinary proceeding;
9. to be considered not responsible for the allegations until found responsible based on what is more likely than not to have occurred (by a preponderance of the evidence);
10. to have reasonable access to the case file prior to and during the disciplinary conference or hearing;
11. to have an advisor as defined in Section XI of this Student Conduct Code; and
12. to appeal the outcome of the case according to Section XX of this Student Conduct Code.

III. SCOPE OF AUTHORITY

The Student Conduct Code (“Code”) is the university’s policy for non-academic conduct offenses and applies to all students, recognized student organizations, and provisionally recognized student groups at American University, including students at the Washington College of Law (“WCL”). However, alleged prohibited conduct by WCL students will not be subject to the resolution mechanism described in this Code. Alleged prohibited conduct by WCL students will be resolved according to the procedures set forth in the Honor Code for the Washington College of Law, except in cases involving alleged conduct in violation of the university’s Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy and the Discrimination and Non-Title IX Sexual Misconduct Policy.

In addition, the university’s Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy and the Discrimination and Non-Title IX Sexual Misconduct Policy are the university’s policies for discrimination, discriminatory harassment, sex misconduct offenses and applies to all students, recognized student organizations, and provisionally recognized student groups at American University, including students at the Washington College of Law. Alleged conduct by students in violation of the university’s Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy and the Discrimination and Non-Title IX Sexual Misconduct Policy will not be subject to the resolution mechanism described in this Code. Alleged conduct by students in violation of the university’s Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy and the Discrimination and Non-Title IX Sexual Misconduct Policy will be exclusively resolved according to the procedures set forth in those university policies. The Office of Equity and Title IX is solely responsible for the investigation, adjudication, sanctioning, and appeals related to the university’s Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy and the Discrimination and Non-Title IX Sexual Misconduct Policy. The university retains authority over alleged infractions that occur during a student’s matriculation or attendance at the university, including orientation programs and activities, winter, spring, and summer breaks, and periods of leave of absence from the university including during disciplinary suspensions. Therefore, a proceeding may be scheduled after a student has completed a program, withdrawn, or graduated from the university. Generally, the university will take disciplinary action for on-campus infractions of the Code. However, the university may take disciplinary action for off-campus infractions of the Code when a student’s behavior threatens or endangers the safety and well-being of the campus community; when a student is the subject of a violation of local, state, or federal law; or when, in the judgment of university officials, a student’s alleged misconduct has a detrimental impact on the university’s functions and operations, pursuit of its mission, or on the well-being of its community or neighbors.

Students, recognized student organizations, and provisionally recognized student groups may be held accountable for their non-affiliated guests behavior on campus.

IV. VIOLATIONS OF LAW AND UNIVERSITY REGULATIONS

Students may be accountable both to civil authorities and to the university for acts that constitute violations of law and of this Code. Disciplinary action at the university will normally proceed while criminal proceedings are pending and will not be subject to challenge on the grounds that criminal charges involving the same incident have been dismissed or reduced.

VII. CLASSROOM BEHAVIOR AND ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

Primary responsibility for managing the classroom environment rests with the faculty. Students who engage in any behavior that has the effect of disrupting a class may be directed by the faculty member to leave the class for the remainder of the class period. Longer suspensions from class or dismissal on disciplinary grounds must be preceded by a disciplinary conference, hearing, hearing-level conference, or administrative adjudication as set forth in Sections XV, Section XVI and Section XVII, and Section XVIII of this Code.

Academic dishonesty allegations are processed in accordance with procedures set forth in the Academic Integrity Code. Students will be subject to both the Student Conduct Code and the Academic Integrity Code in cases where there is a combination of alleged violations of academic and non-academic regulations.

VIII. STUDENT GROUPS AND ORGANIZATIONS

Groups of students and student organizations are expected to comply with all university policies including this Code and all additional policies pertaining to groups and organizations including federal, state, and local laws. Allegations of policy violations by groups or organizations will be investigated and resolved through Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services consistent with the following:

- A. Recognized student organizations and student groups with provisional recognition, as well as their members and officers, may be held collectively and/or individually responsible for violations of the Code and/or other university policies.
- B. The university's decision to hold a group or organization responsible for misconduct of its members is based on a review of the circumstances of factors including, but not limited to, whether or not the misconduct:
 1. Was committed by one or more officers or authorized representatives acting in the scope of their group or organizational capacities;
 2. Involved or was condoned by (either actively or passively) more than one member, alumnus, or guest of the group or organization;

- D. Sanctions for group or organization misconduct may include revocation or denial of registration or recognition, as well as other appropriate sanctions. Sanctions for misconduct by a group with provisional recognition may include denial of recognition, as well as other appropriate sanctions. - E. Recognized student organizations, including fraternities and sororities, may appoint panels or boards to mediate disputes and enforce association bylaws. Decisions or recommendations by such panels or boards do not constitute official action by the university.

IX. INTERIM SUSPENSION

Pursuant to the university's Interim Suspension Policy (see Appendix C), the Dean of Students or their designee may suspend a student from the university and/or university housing or deny access to university privileges for an interim period pending disciplinary charges or criminal proceedings or medical evaluation regarding behavior relevant to such proceedings. The Dean of Students or their designee, at their discretion, may impose an interim suspension when the continued presence of the student at the university (a) poses a substantial and immediate threat to the safety and well-being of members of the university community; or (b) poses a threat to the stability and continuation of normal university functions. The Dean of Students or their designee may consult with other university administrators or external professionals as needed in deciding whether to impose an interim suspension. When placed on an interim suspension, a student may not participate in university activities, including but not limited to: attending or participating in academic classes or programs, residing in university owned or operated facilities, being present on university premises. Any modifications to the interim suspension will be explicitly communicated by the Dean of Students or their designee. Communication beyond staff in the Office of the Dean of Students and Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services must be approved by the Dean of Students or designee.

The Dean of Students or their designee will provide written notification to a student who is placed on interim suspension and the student will have the opportunity to appeal the interim suspension pursuant to the process in the university's Interim Suspension Policy, which can be found in Appendix C.

X. CONDUCT COUNCIL

The Conduct Council will consist of students, faculty, and staff selected by the Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services and the discretion of the Vice President of campus life. The Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or designee is responsible for training and providing administrative support to the Council. Specifically, Conduct Council members and Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services staff will participate in mandatory, annual training on the issues related to dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking, including how to participate in a Sanction Panel that addresses these violations.

Among other duties, members of the Conduct Council will sit on hearing panels designed to resolve allegations referred for a hearing in accordance with Section XVI of this Code.

- A. The Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or designee will select a hearing panel from the Conduct Council comprised of three (3) persons: one (1) student and two (2) members of the faculty/staff.
- B. Both the findings and the sanctions determined by Conduct Council hearing panels are recommendations to the Dean of Students or designee, who will render a decision.
- C. Members of the Conduct Council who are alleged to have committed any violation of this Code, other university policies, or a criminal offense may be temporarily suspended from their positions by the Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services while allegations against them are pending. Members found responsible for any such violation or offense may be disqualified from any further participation in the university conduct system. Additional grounds and procedures for removal may be established by the Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services.

XI. ADVISORS

At their own discretion, respondents may be advised by an American University student, faculty, or staff member. The role of the advisor is limited to consultation. While advisors may be present at disciplinary proceedings, they may not address hearing bodies, speak in disciplinary proceedings, or question witnesses. Advisors may not act on behalf of the respondent, or contact any participant in the conduct process. Advisors may not act in a dual role during the disciplinary proceeding (e.g. as both a witness and an advisor). Because the purpose of this conduct process is to provide a fair review of alleged violations of this Code, rather than a formal legal proceeding, participation of persons acting as legal counsel is not permitted.

XII. STANDARDS OF FAIR PROCESS

Students who may be subject to removal from university housing, suspension, or dismissal will be referred to a disciplinary hearing or disciplinary hearing-level conference, as specified in Section XVI and Section XVII of this Code. Students who may be subject to lesser sanctions for non-academic misconduct will be referred to a disciplinary conference, as set forth in Section XV of this Code. Formal rules of evidence will not be applied, nor will deviations from prescribed procedures necessarily invalidate a decision unless significant prejudice to the parties involved or the university result.

XIII. PROCEDURES FOR CASE RESOLUTION

- A. Any university student, faculty, or staff member may submit a complaint regarding a student, a recognized student organization, or a student group with provisional recognition suspected of violating this Code to the Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services. A written complaint must be filed with the Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services within 30 calendar days of the occurrence or discovery of the alleged infraction(s). Requests for consideration of filing a complaint outside of the 30 calendar day filing period, must be made in writing to the Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or designee, who will consider whether or not it is reasonable for SCCRS to adjudicate a complaint filed outside of the filing period. The Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or their designee will refer all complaints involving sexual misconduct or discrimination to the appropriate administrator in the Office of Equity and Title IX.

- B. Those submitting a complaint to Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services are normally expected to serve as a witness should the case be resolved through a disciplinary hearing. Members of the community may also submit an anonymous complaint regarding alleged misconduct, but it may limit the ability for a complaint to be fully adjudicated.
- C. Upon receipt of the complaint, the Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or designee will conduct a preliminary review to determine whether the alleged misconduct, if proved, would violate policies listed in Section VI and/or the Residence Hall Regulations of this Code. The Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or designee has the discretion to determine whether a complaint may be resolved informally. The Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services also has the discretion to determine whether a complaint can be resolved through a restorative conference, as outlined in Section XIV of the Student Conduct Code provided that the respondent and the harmed party consent to the restorative conference. Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services does not use restorative conference to resolve allegations of physical violence or conduct which endangers the health or safety of any person in lieu of a formal process. If upon the receipt of the complaint, there is a need to evaluate whether there is sufficient information to form a reasonable belief that the alleged misconduct would violate policies listed in Section VI and/or the Residence Hall Regulations of this Code, the Director of Student Conflict & Conflict Resolution Services or designee will meet with involved parties or witnesses, review documents, or gather relevant information. If there is sufficient information, the complaint will proceed through the appropriate case resolution procedures. If upon the review of the facts presented, it is determined that there is insufficient information or if the complaint fails to allege an actual violation of the Code, the complaint will be dismissed.
- D. For complaints where the Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or their designee determines that the outcomes are reasonably likely to include removal from university housing, suspension or dismissal, the complaint will be referred to a disciplinary hearing before a Conduct Council panel as outlined in Section XVI of this Code or a disciplinary hearing-level conference before a hearing officer as outlined in Section XVII of this Code.
- E. For complaints where the Director of Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services or their designee, determines that the outcomes are not reasonably likely to include removal from university housing, suspension, or dismissal, the complaint will be referred to a disciplinary conference with a hearing officer, as set forth in Section XV of this Code.
- F. Students referred for a disciplinary hearing may request to have their cases resolved in a disciplinary conference in accordance with Section XVII of this Code. Such request, must be in writing, affirming that the student is aware that the hearing is being waived. The full range of sanctions may be imposed, including removal from university housing, suspension, or dismissal from the university. Both the findings and the sanctions determined by the hearing panel or hearing officer are recommendations to the Dean of Students or designee, who will render a decision. The Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or designee will have the discretion in granting such a request.
- G. Hearing panel members, hearing administrators, and respondents will have the right to question relevant witnesses who make statements at disciplinary hearings.
- H. The university may withhold awarding a diploma or degree otherwise earned until the completion of the process as set forth in this Code, including the completion of all sanctions imposed. Withholding of a diploma or degree means not conferring a diploma or degree otherwise earned for a defined period of time or until the completion of assigned sanctions.

- I. If a student withdraws or takes a leave of absence from the university with a disciplinary proceeding pending, Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services will proceed with the disciplinary proceeding according to the procedures outlined in this Code.
- J. To ensure timely resolution, Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services will facilitate disciplinary proceedings during all periods the University is open, including summer and winter breaks. Reasonable adjustments to the timeline of a disciplinary process may be made to ensure participation of the parties and/or witness during winter and summer breaks.
- K. Students who need an accommodation for a disability during a disciplinary proceeding, must notify the Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services in advance of the disciplinary proceeding.

XIV. PROCEDURES FOR RESTORATIVE CONFERENCES

The goal of restorative justice is to repair harm and prevent reoccurrence through a process that involves those most directly affected. Restorative Conferences may include inquiry into the facts, but typically does not include a formal investigation. The participation of all parties in a restorative process must be voluntary. If a restorative process fails, the case will move forward in a disciplinary proceeding. Information shared in a restorative process will not be used in a formal proceeding if the restorative process is not successful. The procedures for restorative conferences are the following:

- A. Either the respondent or harmed party makes a request in writing to refer a complaint the office of Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services for a restorative conference.
- B. The director of Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services or designee has the discretion to determine if a restorative conference is appropriate provided that the respondent and the harmed party consent to the restorative conference. The director of Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services or designee may elect not to consider the restorative conference process because of the severity of the allegation or the complexity of the complaint. Restorative conferences are not permitted to resolve allegations of physical violence or conduct which endangers the health or safety of any person.
- C. A complaint may be considered for resolution via restorative conference if the following conditions are met: 1) the respondent and the harmed party consent to the restorative conference; 2) the responding and harmed parties are actively involved in the informal resolution recommendation; and 3) the responding and harmed parties agree, sign, and uphold the reparative agreement.
- D. The responding party or harmed party may withdraw from the restorative conference at any time prior to agreeing to a resolution. If such action is taken, the complaint will be formally resolved through Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services.
- E. The reparative agreement requires the acknowledgement and signature of the responding and harmed parties. The reparative agreement is not finalized without the approval of the director of Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services or their designee. If the reparative agreement is approved by the director of Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services or their designee, then the terms of the reparative agreement are implemented, and the matter is deemed resolved and closed. If a reparative agreement is not reached by the parties, approved by the University, or if the respondent fails to comply with the terms of the reparative agreement, the case will move forward in a disciplinary proceeding. If the restorative conference is not successful, statements or disclosures provided in the restorative conference regarding the incident will not be considered in a subsequent disciplinary proceeding.

- F. The responding party is responsible for compliance of the reparative agreement.
- G. The reparative agreement is not considered a disciplinary record.
- H. Responding and harmed parties may be accompanied by an advisor of their choice as outlined in Section XI of this Code.

XV. PROCEDURES FOR DISCIPLINARY CONFERENCES

Students accused of non-academic offenses that are not reasonably likely to result in removal from university housing, suspension, or dismissal are subject to a disciplinary conference with a hearing officer. The Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or designee will serve as the hearing officer and conduct the disciplinary conference. The respondent may challenge a hearing officer on the ground of conflict of interest by submitting a written request within two (2) business days of the receipt of the notification letter. The hearing officer may be disqualified by the Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or the Dean of Students or designee. The Director of Student Conduct & Conflict Resolution Services or designee will notify the respondent of a new assigned hearing officer if appropriate. The hearing officer will make inquiries into evidence as necessary to ensure a just outcome of the case. If the respondent chooses not to appear for a disciplinary conference, the information supporting the allegations will be considered and a decision will be made in the absence of the respondent. Nonetheless, the hearing officer will consider the evidence, apply the preponderance of the evidence standard, and determine whether the respondent is responsible for violating the Code. In addition, due to the informal nature of disciplinary conferences, disciplinary conferences are not recorded.

The following procedural protections are provided to respondents in disciplinary conferences:

- a. Written notice of the specific allegations at least three (3) calendar days prior to the scheduled conference with additional time at the Director's discretion unless by a student's own determination they have chosen to schedule the conference prior to the three (3) days have passed;
- b. Reasonable access to the case file prior to and during the conference;
- c. An opportunity to respond to the evidence; and
- d. A right to be accompanied by an advisor, as provided in Section XI of this Code.

XVI. PROCEDURES FOR DISCIPLINARY HEARINGS

- A. Students accused of non-academic offenses that will likely result in sanctions such as removal from university housing, suspension, or dismissal are subject to a disciplinary hearing convened by a hearing administrator before Conduct Council members.
- B. The Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or designee will serve as the hearing administrator and conduct the hearing. They may participate in hearing panel deliberations and discussions, but cannot vote. The hearing administrator is responsible for final decisions on all procedural issues and may modify hearing procedures, if necessary, to ensure a fair and expedient administration of the hearing.
- C. The Director of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution Services or designee will give respondents notice of the hearing date and the specific allegations against them at least five (5) calendar days in advance of the hearing.
